Notes: 1. The England and Wales figures for 1997 and later years reflect the changes in homeless legislation, and no longer include 'non-priority acceptances'. In 1996 these accounted for 3,310 acceptances in England and 3,501 acceptances in Wales.

2. Scottish figures to 2012 are for priority need homeless and potentially homeless cases only. From 2013 they refer to all homeless acceptances following the abolition of the distinction between priority need and other homeless acceptances on 31 December 2012.

3. Scottish figures from 2001 are for financial years (i.e. 2000/01).

4. The 1990 figures for Wales include 2,000 households made homeless by flooding that year.

5. Welsh homelessness legislative reforms and the introduction of new prevention and relief duties mean that acceptance figures are lower from 2015 than previous years. Welsh figures from 2015 are for financial years and are based on section 73 priority need cases.
